Antonio Villaraigosa is the current Mayor of Los Angeles and the President of the U.S. Conference of Mayors. As mayor, he has helped reduce crime to its lowest levels since the 1950s, doubled the number of schools reaching the state's academic performance goals, and passed a half-penny sales tax doubling the size of LA's rail network and putting people back to work. As president of USCM, he has built bi-partisan coalitions in support of the Common Sense Jobs Plan and an innovative transportation infrastructure initiative called America Fast Forward. He was recently appointed Chair of the 2012 Democratic National Convention by President Barack Obama.

Such a synthesis is true to the spirit of the lecture's namesakes, former distinguished professors John C. Bollens and John C. Ries, and Professor Emeritus Marvin Hoffenberg in the Department of Political Science at UCLA.

The UCLA Department of Political Science and the UCLA Meyer and Renee Luskin School of Public Affairs

cordially invite you to a lecture in celebration of the
